MT. STERLING, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JULY 6, 1922.

NUMBER 76.

Three-Game-a-Week Schedule Is Adopted

The Blue Grass League next Sunday will inaugurate a new schedule of three games a week in place of the present card of two games, it was decided at a meeting of the league leaders at Cynthiana last night. The first game of the new schedule will be the same as those now carded under the old schedule, and will find Lexington at Mt. Sterling, Cynthiana at Maysville and Winchester at Paris.

The league season is to be split, and the teams will start on even terms under the new card, which will call for forty games for each team, the season closing Sunday, October 8. Maysville is thus the winner of the first part of the season, with a total of 6 games won and six lost.

It was stipulated that Lexington should have ten Sunday games at home and each of the other clubs was to have either six or seven Sunday dates. The Cynthiana club has also requested that all of its Saturday dates be played away from the home diamond. Under the old schedule Lexington would have had two more Sunday games at home.

The last game of the two-game season will be played off between the Lexington and Mt. Sterling teams Saturday at Mt. Sterling. This is the result of a protest made by Mt. Sterling on the game won by Lexington on June 4 by the score of 3 to 2, the protest being allowed by President Thomas M. Russell. If Lexington wins this game, the club will finish in second place in the league; if the Studdes lose they will be tied with Paris for second place.

When the Mt. Sterling-Lexington battle is disposed of, each club in the league will have played 22 games for the first part of the divided season.

The schedule, President Russell announced, would be ready for publication next Sunday morning at the latest.

The meeting at Cynthiana last night was said to be the most harmonious so far held by the league.

Now that a new schedule has been adopted and the season is to be started all over again, it is to Mt. Sterling to start in from the start with a winning team. It has been proved beyond a doubt that Mt. Sterling has as good crowds as any town in the league and will undoubtedly support a winning team. If two or three weak gaps can be filled we will have as strong a nine as there is in the circuit and there is no reason why Mt. Sterling should not be returned the winner of the second half—at least, let's work with that accomplishment in view.

Remember, Lexington will be the attraction at the local park both Saturday and Sunday and let's have a big crowd both days and cheer the local boys on to victory.

The game at Winchester Sunday, the Fourth, was won by the Essex by the score of 8 to 7. It was a very poorly played affair, each team trying to see which could play the rottenest ball.

STATE'S OLDEST MASON, 100, DIES AT SHELBYVILLE

B. W. Noel, centenarian, the oldest Mason in Kentucky and probably the oldest in the country, died Tuesday midnight at the Old Mason's Home at Shelbyville, where he had been a resident since October 17, 1916.

A stroke of paralysis, suffered on Saturday, and infirmities caused his death, but he retained his faculties and was conscious to the last.

Mr. Noel celebrated his hundredth birthday anniversary March 31, at which time all of the grand lodge officers and other dignitaries of the state attended the ceremonies in his honor. On that occasion Mr. Noel laid aside the cane which he usually carried. The principal table ornament at the dinner was a mammoth cake, decorated with the Masonic emblem surrounded by roses.

A native of Boone county, Mr. Noel was raised a Master Mason in 1855 in Napoleon lodge, No. 333, Graves county, later transferring his membership to Cloverport lodge, No. 133. He was twice married, but both of his wives and his children preceded him to the grave.

His nearest relative was a grandniece, Mrs. Eva Murphy, of Walton, Boone county.

The body was sent to Cloverport.

Purchases Interest In Punch Company

J. C. Powers, of Walton, has purchased the interest of the late Jack R. Owings in the R. E. Punch Company and will be actively connected with the business. Mr. Powers has had many years' experience in the shoe business and comes to Mt. Sterling highly recommended, both as a splendid business man and polished gentleman. The addition of Mr. Powers to this progressive shoe firm will materially strengthen this already prosperous concern and we feel certain his connection with the R. E. Punch Company will prove both prosperous and beneficial to all concerned, and we heartily welcome Mr. Powers to our circle of business men. He has a wife and child who will join him here later.

CATTLE SALES

Charles E. Duff sold the past week to Uhlman and Company, of Philadelphia, 41 head of 1,400-pound export cattle, black, for which he received the top price of 9 1-2 cents net. The cattle will go after July 20. They are said to be the finest bunch of cattle in Montgomery county. Other purchases made by Uhlman are from Paul Thompson, 38 head of 1,400-pound cattle at 9 cents; of A. L. Tipton, 62 head of 1,400-pound cattle at 8 3-4 cents; of John T. Botts, 110 head of 1,450-pound cattle at 8 3-4 cents; of J. P. Highland, 40 head of 1,400-pound cattle at $8.70; of A. S. Hart, 154 head of 1,400-pound cattle, weighing from 1,300 to 1,450, at two prices, $8.40 and $8.70; of Steve Pieratt, 36 head of 1,400-pound cattle at 8 1-2 cents. Judge Henry R. Previtt sold to McDonald and Caywood, 70 head of 1,450-pound cattle at 9 cents. The prices obtained were all good ones and each cattle dealer will make good money.

CORNWELL GROCERY SATURDAY

Georgia watermelons. Sweet delicious cantaloupes. Peaches, pears and small fruits. Imported fruits. All vegetables in season. Choice meats, lamb, pork, beef and veal. Fresh cakes, assorted. Salt-risen bread.

Suit May Affect Local Race Track

The question of the right of the city council of Ashland to permit a lodge or private organization to use the Central Park in that city for a fair and also the right of the Ashland lodge of Elks to conduct a race meeting at which pari-mutuel betting machines are used, is involved in a suit for an injunction filed at Frankfort by Joe Russell, suing as a taxpayer. The action was brought before Judge Thomas after the Boyd circuit court had refused to grant an injunction.

A decision in the case is expected soon. The racing law provides that county fair organizations may conduct race meetings with pari-mutuel betting without paying the $2,500 a day license and without the state racing commission being in charge. Private organizations, however, it is claimed, must pay the license and be under the direction of the commission.

Men, buy sox now. Six pairs 25c sox for 95c. Last week of this offering.—The Walsh Co., Inc.

WALTER H. WRIGHT'S SATURDAY SPECIALS

W. H. Wright is busy all the time, and there is a reason for it. He studies the trade, knows it wants and supplies it from producers, so that middle profits are saved to the customer.

This is one reason and the other is that he gives first grades at the same or less prices than seconds go over many counters.

His stock is complete with standard and fancy groceries and for this year with a good fruit crop he is supplied with fruit jars, rubbers and caps. He can furnish the trade with caps and rubbers for old jars. This stock should be purchased now for the large crops will exhaust the supply.

ELECTED TO COUNTY HIGH

The county board of trustees has elected Prof. David P. Morris, of Owenton, as principal of the county high school for the coming year, and he has accepted. Prof. Morris is a graduate of Peabody College and is a rising young educator. Mrs. Morris will teach in the grades. Prof. and Mrs. Morris come to this city highly recommended and are said to be most competent instructors.

MRS. GATEWOOD INJURED

Mrs. Lawless Gatewood is confined to her room as a result of a broken leg, sustained in a fall from the porch at her home several days ago. Mrs. Gatewood's young son, Jimmy, was milking in the field not far from the house and became frightened at an unruly cow, and Mrs. Gatewood, hearing his screams, ran to his assistance and fell, fracturing a small bone in her leg. The boy, who rushed to the house, upset a pan of hot grease on a kitchen table and received severe scalds on his arm.

AYRES FRUIT CO. SATURDAY

Fine cantaloupes. We have not found a faulty one yet. Delicious watermelons on ice. Apples, peaches and all other fruit in season. Oranges, lemons and bananas. Vegetables in season.

DR. KRIEDLER LEAVES

Dr. C. F. Kriedler, the popular veterinary surgeon, who was recently appointed deputy veterinary surgeon for the state, has gone to Frankfort to make his future home, that city being his headquarters. His family has returned to the home at Brooksville. "Dr. Kriedler and family made many warm friends in this city during their residence among our people and it is with much regret that we see them leave."

FOR SALE

A 3-year-old pony, well broke to ride and drive. A beauty. Fifty inches high, white and brown spots, sound and a good looker, with fine style.—S. P. Greenwade.

TURNPIKE BONDS SOLD

There were a number of bidders for the first issue of $35,000 worth of turnpike bonds, recently voted by Montgomery county, and the Traders National Bank was the purchaser of the bonds for $36,500. The bonds are of $100 par value and at the sale brought $103. They bear five per cent interest. The funds secured from the sale of the bonds will be used to pay Montgomery county's part of the construction of the Winchester pike from Sewell's Shop to the city limits of Mt. Sterling.

ROOM AND BOARD—For lady or couple, centrally located.—Call phone No. 227.

MRS. TIPTON RESIGNS

Mrs. Will R. Tipton, who has so capably filled the position of bookkeeper for the past three years at the Exchange Bank, has resigned to accept a similar position at Pineville and will leave within the next week to join her husband at that place. Mrs. Tipton will be succeeded by Ralph Greene.

SEASON TICKETS

The season tickets for the fair this year will be sold, as is the custom, by the Montgomery County Health and Welfare League. They will go on sale Friday at the banks and at twenty of the retail stores in the city. Buy your tickets early. By purchasing now you save money and at the same time will benefit the Health and Welfare League.

Truce Move Made By Strikers' Chief

Hope for the speedy settlement of the country-wide shopmen strike was seen last night in statements issued by Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the United States Labor Board, and B. M. Jewell, leader of the shop crafts, who ordered the walkout.

In reply to a letter from Mr. Hooper, which was regarded as conciliatory in tone, Mr. Jewell declared that the strikers were willing to consider any negotiations with anyone in authority for settlement of the strike.

"We are willing to confer with anybody authorized by the railroads to bring peace proposals to us," said Mr. Jewell. "I include or exclude nobody, but if the labor board, for instance, came to us with a definite proposition, we would not hesitate to consider it."

Mr. Jewell then made public for the first time the exact figures on the strike vote taken by the 400,000 members of the six shop crafts. The vote was divided into three separate ballots, the first on accepting a $50,000,000 reduction in wages ordered by the labor board; second, the restoration of seven working rules altered by the board, and, third, the abolishment of outside contracting by the roads.

A tabulation of the ballots showed, Mr. Jewell said, that only 94.7 per cent of the men had voted to strike on the question of wages, the heaviest vote for a strike being on the question of outside contract labor, which polled 97.1 per cent of the vote cast. The ballot on rules came second, with 96.2 per cent for the strike. Union leaders said that the relative importance of the issues was demonstrated by the votes on the three points by their membership.

In railroad circles it was declared that the way had already been cleared for a full settlement on the gravest issues—that of contract work—by the agreement of 12 roads to abolish outside contracting at the labor board meeting last Friday, when Mr. Jewell ignored an order to appear and explain his strike order.

ANOTHER SALE MADE BY POOL

The sale of a consignment of cigarette wrapper was announced Tuesday by officials of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, but the amount sold and the name of the purchaser were not made public. Other sales are reported pending and the association is now filling a recently reported order for the air-dried tobacco for export purposes.

President and General Manager: J. C. Stone, Warehouse Manager Robert E. Beatty and Grader Albert Day went to Madison county Monday and on their return reported the signing up of a number of tobacco growers, among them J. W. Curry, prominent and influential farmer and tobacco growers of the Newby section.

American Legion News

Plans are being made to entertain more than 20,000 former members of the Eightieth (Blue Ridge) division of the American Expeditionary Forces at the third annual reunion and convention at Charleston, W. Va., September 2 to 4.

The cause of stripes and wounds on the back of Vernie Pierce, a shell-shocked world war veteran of Evansville, Indiana, is being investigated by the American Legion to determine whether these were inflicted while Pierce was a patient in a hospital for the insane.

More evidence that world war veterans have the "never-say-die" spirit was shown when Leonard T. Paul, of Grinnell College, Iowa, with a leg badly maimed by shrapnel wounds broke the 100 and 220-yard dash records in an intercollegiate track meet held in Chicago. Many days of strenuous training with his comrades of the American Legion put Paul in trim for the event. His stride with his left leg is four inches shorter than with his right.

Although their fair city is a long way from the native haunts of alligators, the residents of Ware, Mass., stoutly maintain that they have seen a huge 'gator in a swamp nearby. American Legion men are making a search through the swamp land.

Both Democratic and Republican representatives in congress from New York have joined in the investigation of charges made by the Staten Island American Legion that eleven world war veterans were buried "practically in a public dump" in Whitlock, Staten Island.

Remembering how they shined up camps during army days with buckets and brushes of whitewash kinds, the American Legionnaires at Osgood, Indiana, whitewashed all the shade trees and hitching posts in the little city, thereby starting a movement which resulted in making Osgood one of the cleanest and most sanitary towns in the country.

The first thing Charles Ogle, wounded world war veteran who had been in a plaster cast in an Omaha, Neb., hospital for many weeks, did when the cast was removed was to dictate a letter to the American Legion Auxiliary, thanking the organization for the kind treatment of its members during his confinement.

Of the 7,088 postmasters appointed by President Harding since March 4, 1921, 900 served in some branch of the military service during the war, according to an announcement of the American Legion.

Rumors that state prison labor is being employed to compete with private industrial concerns has caused an investigation by Seattle, Wash., American Legion.

Any information concerning government homesteads in Wyoming will be furnished to members of the American Legion free of charge by J. W. Dillrance, Box 295, Gillette, Wyo., an ex-soldier who has taken a claim himself. Relinquishments

STARVING ARTIST WINS' PRIX DE 'ROME

Just as he was to be evicted from his miserable New York home, Alfred Fogel won the Prix-de-Rome, which means $1,000 a year for three years, free residence in the Academy of Arts, and an opportunity to travel without expense. The great artist has managed to live only by house painting and kalsomining.

Sounds Death Knell of the Hookworm

Dr. Maurice C. Hall of the Department of Agriculture, after many experiments has discovered that the hookworm can be killed in the lower animals by carbon tetrachloride. He will soon be in a position to announce the method of treatment that will rid human beings of the health-destroying parasite which has been so prevalent in the country. The discovery is regarded as one of the highest importance. Statisticians figure that the elimination of the hookworm will increase the prosperity and productivity of the South tremendously.

HARD-SURFACE ROADS SHOULD BE AT LEAST 18 FEET WIDE

A minimum width of 18 feet for hard-surface roads is recommended by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. The maximum width of truck body generally permitted is 8 feet, and 5 1-2 feet is the ordinary clearance width of automobiles. At an average speed of 30 miles an hour it is unreasonable to expect the driver of an automobile to drive with the wheels closer than 1 1-2 feet to the edge of the pavement, says the bureau. For trucks at an average speed of 15 miles an hour, this distance should not be less than 1 3-4 feet on account of the great width of the rear wheels. Three feet seems to be a minimum safe clearance between bodies. Inasmuch as a certain amount of truck traffic is to be expected on all main country roads, the minimum width of surface should be 18 feet to provide these clearances when an automobile meets a truck. Where the frequency with which trucks pass each other becomes a big factor, as in the neighborhood of large cities, the minimum width of pavement should be 20 feet to provide a clearance of 3 1-2 feet and a safe distance of wheels from the edge of the pavement.

What is it that men freely give away which they not only could, but should use themselves? Answer: Advice.

HOME BREWING ON DECLINE

New England rapidly is losing interest in the formerly absorbing topic of home brew. It also is losing its taste for the various concoctions formerly manufactured on quite an extensive scale.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, commenting on the decline of the "industry" in that section, says the demand for yeast, hops and malt has dropped off by half from the peak of the fad. And the decline continues.

The passionate earnestness of the American people when in pursuit of a few fancy is a subject of humorous comment even with those who are rated as among the most passionate faddists. Fortunately, we do not take our hobbies too seriously.

Home brewing became the "rage" when the country went dry and the "real old stuff" was not available. Everybody, it seemed, was seized simultaneously with a wild desire to manufacture something with a kick in it.

The experience, the trials, the tribulations and the regrets of the home brew makers have furnished unlimited "copy" for witsmiths in the hectic days since Mr. Volstead had congress put its official "okeh" on the famous act which bears his name. It was great sport while it lasted.

But it didn't last long. One by one, the devotees at the shrine of home brew grew tired of trying to violate the act with the assistance of smelly concoctions and the kitchen stove. It somehow didn't seem right to parade a deliberate infraction of the law before the children. Then, too, there was the menace to health.

New England's experience probably is typical of the entire country. In big issues, such as this, Americans nearly always think and act alike. When New England tires of making home brew, it's a cinch the middle west, the far west, Dixie and even stubborn old N' Yawk also are losing interest.—Editorial in Seattle, Oregon, Times.

Chautauqua Lecturer to Tell Women How to Dress Well Inexpensively

"Well-dressed on a Moderate Income" is the subject of a distinctly unusual lecture-demonstration to be given at the coming Redpath Chautauqua by Evelyn Hansen, who comes to the Chautauqua field direct from the Extension Department of the Art Institute of Chicago.

Using women of different types as models, Miss Hansen points out the lines and style of dress and the color combinations that are suitable to the dainty type of woman, the majestic type, the blond, the brunette and many other types. Miss Hansen calls it the art or science of type-dressing, and she approaches the subject from the various viewpoints of beauty, utility and economy.

During the past year under the auspices of the Art Institute of Chicago, Miss Hansen has talked to fully 95,000 people in clubs, schools, chambers of commerce and salesmanship classes. Her lecture here promises to be one of the most practical and unique of the entire Chautauqua program.

Will Impersonate Literary Notables at Chautauqua Here

Mark Twain, Longfellow, Riley, Hugo and other literary masters will live again in the impersonative lecture-recital to be presented by Sidney Landon, humorist, scholar and interpreter, at the coming Redpath Chautauqua.

With the aid of wigs, grease paint and vivid descriptions, Mr. Landon presents character studies and speaking likenesses of a number of the best-loved men of letters; and while in make-up, he reads from their best-known masterpieces.

One of Mr. Landon's favorite impersonations is of Mark Twain as that famous humorist appeared on the occasion of his seventieth birthday anniversary banquet. Poe and Bill Nye, Tennyson and Kipling also appear in the Landon gallery of impersonative portraits.

The Landon lecture-recital is inspirational, educational and entertaining

RELIEF FOR THE LIVESTOCK BREEDER

The war finance corporation, under the direction of Dwight F. Davis, has finally succeeded in proving its worth, and has turned early banking opposition actually into an attitude of approval. Its future work will be watched with closest interest. The two bills introduced in congress covering the orderly marketing of agricultural products and the financing of the livestock industry demonstrate a grasp of fundamentals that means much for the public whose welfare depends so much on the farmer. It is evident the financing of the livestock industry, with its turnover coming only once in two or three years in the case of breeder herds, cannot best be handled through the federal reserve system, and that new machinery must be set up. The antiquated system of thirty, sixty and ninety day notes obviously spells destruction in the industry. The breeder is sitting continuously on a volcano. In times of tight money or at the dictum of unconscionable money lenders, he must sacrifice his young stock to meet insistent calls for loans.

We have now proposed a system of regional rediscount corporations, to be known as Federal Livestock Finance Corporations along lines similar to the Joint Stock Land Banks. Surface examination indicates the plan will give relief to the livestock breeder, and encourage rather than discourage the industry. The proposed legislation attempts to provide a means by which the best quality of livestock paper, complying with definite standards on which investors may rely, can be used as a means of raising a substantial sum of funds at reasonable rates, and upon terms which will put the ninety day bogey out of sight. Every banker and every interested citizen should give study to this legislation and back it to the limit of his influence unless something better can be brought forward. The livestock breeder has been the goat long enough.

THE RAILROAD OWNED PRESS

The Jacksonville, Fla., Journal has open raised the question as to the right of a public service corporation to own a newspaper. "The newspaper that is owned by any public utility corporation is not a free press," says the Journal. "It cannot represent the people, it represents the special privilege it is owned to foster."

Presumably the question is being agitated because of the growing grip of the railroads on the newspapers of the south.

That railroad owned newspapers are a dangerous influence in a community there seems to be no doubt. It is quite out of the question for newspapers owned by railroads to present to the public fair and impartial facts and editorial opinion on such vital questions as freight rates, for example, yet upon an intelligent understanding of the freight rate situation on the part of the public depends the prosperity of the great farming population that feeds the nation and the cost of living for the public that must depend on the tiller of the soil. There are thousands of newspaper readers in the cities who never know the ownership of the publications they look to for information. The editors are unknown to them. The city newspaper publisher and his readers have not that close contact that exists between the publisher of a smaller newspaper and his readers. Of course, the natural assumption is that the newspaper is the friend of the public, the national policeman watching the interests of the people, and so people are turned into an army of Little Red Riding Hoods and led to destruction by the railroad wolf without ever a suspicion of their danger.

It would be a beneficial service if legislation were enacted prohibiting the ownership of newspapers by public service corporations, and it is quite within range of possibility that this much to be desired restriction can be brought about if the country press unites in insisting upon it. Reputable newspaper publishers have a right to protect the honor of their profession. The integrity of the whole press suffers in reputation from this handful of prostituted publications whose policies of buncombe and deception are shaped by public service corporations whose sole aim is to disarm and exploit the people.

KENTUCKY PRODUCES GOOD SEED POTATOES

Kentucky's second crop of potatoes, which usually is planted from the middle to the latter part of July, produces seed spuds equal in every way to those which can be obtained from other sources, according to A. J. Olney, potato specialist of the College of Agriculture. On the other hand, it seldom is practicable to hold tubers from the first crop for seed. Use of a seed plot and a few special practices has been found to be a good method of producing vigorous foundation stock for future crops, he added.

"The object of such a seed plot is to produce and maintain a high yielding variety of potatoes. The principal cause of deterioration or 'running out' of varieties is a disease known as mosaic or curly dwarf, which causes the young plants to appear dwarfed, the leaves to curl downward and be much twisted and to have an uneven yellow and green color. Such plants produce small, worthless tubers. If plants are attacked later, the new leaves may show the mosaic or irregular green color, but the plants may produce fairly normal tubers. The disease is carried from year to year in potatoes produced from diseased plants. It is spread from plant to plant by aphids or plant lice and the apple leaf hopper. Strains of potatoes badly affected with the mosaic cannot give high yields and it also is difficult to obtain seed entirely free from it.

"In eradicating the disease by means of the seed plot, the potatoes are gone over as soon as they are well above the ground and all plants removed which are stunted in any way or show signs of mosaic. The plants are gone over about twice again before flowering time and all badly diseased or mosaic plants destroyed. The plot is gone over again at flowering time and all plants removed which show a different flower color than that of the variety being grown, these being mixtures.

"After the plot has been gone over for the last time, the plants which appear especially strong and vigorous are marked, the best tubers in these hills being selected at digging time as seed for the next year's plot and the remainder kept for planting the early field crop."

Hail Insurance Rates Reduced on Tobacco

With the recent reductions of hail storm insurance rates on growing tobacco, in the face of the enormous losses to growers within the last four or five years, every grower can afford to protect himself to the limit and, with safety, go into the business of producing a crop that requires so much money, time and labor, as does tobacco, that should be insured against loss by hail storms.

Now that so many growers have gone into an organization for a more economical, business-like way of handling their crops, and the insurance companies have so lowered rates on hail insurance, there is no reason in the world for any grower to neglect the protection of his crop by ample insurance.

Better see your insurance agent right away and have him protect your crop, which is likely to be destroyed any day by a hail storm. Policies become effective noon, July 10th.

INTEREST INCREASING

All preliminary arrangements for the approaching fair have been made and the interest shown at home and in all the adjoining territory points to the largest and most interesting fair in the history of Montgomery county.

In addition to the push and modern arrangements made by the fair people, our merchants and other business concerns are arranging a new dress so that the strangers may know what Mt. Sterling is and what she can do. Really this is the garden spot of the world, the gateway to the mountain section, where the wealth now being developed is beyond calculation. These great days when Eastern, Central and Western Kentucky will have a glad meeting, will begin with the 19th and close, including the 22nd.

PROGRESSIVE

James O'Connell has been in Mt. Sterling engaged in the manufacture of shoes and the repairing of same for forty years, and on that anniversary he added to his facilities an up-to-date, progressive finishing machine. This machine can do every item of work needed in the finishing work and do it better and in about one-twentieth of the time it can be done by hand. This machine, therefore, enables the "Laboratory," of which Mr. O'Connell is proprietor, to do better work at a much less price than the old-time way. The "Laboratory" adds another machine, a combination shaving machine and skinner, made by the same company at Minneapolis, Minn. These machines are strictly new and bear the date of 1922. The "Laboratory" is now as well equipped as any company anywhere to do new or repair work.

DEATH ANGEL CLAIMS

MRS. ALBERT WELCH

Mrs. Nettie Chase Welch died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Chase, last Thursday evening at 6:45 o'clock, a victim of the great white plague, from which she had suffered the past 18 months. Funeral services were held at the family residence Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. F. Chappel. The body was laid to rest in the family burying ground.

Mrs. Welch is survived by her husband, Albert Welch, Jr., her parents, one brother and one sister, Ray and Gola Chase, all of this county. She was 22 years of age and was one of the most widely known young women in the county. She had been a member of the Church of God for several years and was a profound student of the great Book of Life, always believing its truth and following its teaching in her everyday life.

A young woman of sterling character and refinement, she was cultured and possessed of a bright mind which was always bent on achievement of some lofty ideal. As her years increased her Savior was very real and precious to her, and she went about among others doing good. Hers was a living testimony of the brightness of a true Christian life. She had bright hopes of Heaven, and a few minutes before she died she called her loved ones to her bedside, saying to each one, "Meet me in Heaven."

She was reared and educated here, being a graduate of the Montgomery county high school, where she was a favorite with all her schoolmates.

Why such a true Christian girl was taken from us in the bloom of young womanhood we know not, but God in His infinite wisdom knoweth all things best.

"O not in cruelty, not in wrath, The Reaper came that day;
'Twas an angel visited the green earth And took the flowers away."

Former Arkansas Governor In City

Former Governor Charles H. Brough, who served as the chief executive of Arkansas from 1917 to 1921, and is now serving his fourth term as president of the United States Good Roads Association, arrived in the city by auto from Richmond Thursday morning, prepared to deliver his patriotic and inspirational lecture on "America's Leadership of the World." The governor was accompanied by members of the Collegian Male Quartette, composed of Messrs. Lester Spring, Clarence Rissner, Albert Strahan and John Wesley Bean, who, he says, are among the very best musical attractions that have ever appeared on a Chautauqua platform. The governor is a former student under Woodrow Wilson and a great admirer of the ex-president, characterizing him as a "statesman combining the patriotism of a Washington, the philosophy of a Jefferson, the constructive genius of a Hamilton, the courage of a Jackson, a Cleveland, and a Roosevelt, the yearning for humanity of a Lincoln and a McKinley, and the judicial poise of a Taft." Governor Brough, prior to his election as governor in 1916, was a university professor and went from the chair of economics and sociology in the University of Arkansas to the position of governor of Arkansas, which he held for two terms. He is a great admirer of Kentucky and Kentuckians, his wife being a daughter of the late Granville Wade Roark, of Franklin, Ky.

Governor Brough emphasizes the need of stronger rural schools and improved highways in Kentucky to properly advertise the entrancing beauty of the commonwealth, and advocating the passage by the next general assembly of Kentucky of a $50,000,000 road bond amendment for the construction and maintenance of a system of permanent primary and secondary roads in every county of the state. As a means of raising additional revenue, he suggests the adoption of a "severance tax," now in operation in fifteen American commonwealths; a 2 or 3 per cent tax on oil, gas, coal, minerals of every kind, stumpage and other materials extracted from the soil, which would enable a sinking fund to be established for a road bond issue without increasing the burden of the general property tax in Kentucky. He says that this "severance tax" yielded approximately $15,000,000 in revenue the second year of its operation in Louisiana and is yielding tremendous revenues in Minnesota, Wisconsin and other great and progressive states.

The governor says that the Red-path program for 1922 is the best-balanced and most attractive one presented to Chautauqua-goers in years. He calls attention to the fact that every southern commonwealth with the exception of Kentucky and Tennessee has sanctioned bond issues for road building, and that Arkansas has built 5,100 miles of improved highways in the last five years and has 2,500 additional miles nearing completion. These roads have reduced the cost of transportation to the farmers from 29.6 cents for hauling one ton one mile to market to less than nine cents per ton mile, have carried in their wake strong consolidated schools and have practically trebled property values. "Kentucky cannot afford to be in the lurch of other great commonwealths in this forward movement for the interlacing of our nation with permanent highways. Nothing, in my judgment, would boost property values in Montgomery county more than the provision of adequate funds for the construction and maintenance of some up-to-date roads in your beautiful section of the Blue Grass State."

EX-SOLDIER CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN NOW ON

Those who served in the world war an dreceived disabilities will lose their rights to file claims with the federal government on August 9, 1922, which is the last day of the extension granted under the Sweet bill. For that reason, the American Legion and Kentucky Disabled ex-Service Men's Board have arranged a campaign, which commenced on June 30, and will end July 11, during which time every disabled ex-service man in Kentucky will be given an opportunity to file his claim. It is estimated that approximately forty per cent of the men in Kentucky who are entitled to compensation have not yet filed claims, and it is of the utmost importance that this information be brought to their attention.

Many men who are disabled less than ten per cent, and therefore not entitled to compensation at the present time, have not filed claims, feeling that in case their disability should increase, they can then file a claim. In many instances men who are only slightly disabled at this time will be totally disabled in years to come because of their service injury. If these men do not file their claims now, they will have waived their rights, but if a man files his claim now and is rated less than ten per cent, but later becomes disabled to a greater extent, he will have protected his rights and can be re-rated.

Brent G. Nunneley, of Louisville, is state chairman for the American Legion Cleanup Campaign and every post in Kentucky has appointed a local cleanup chairman, so that every county can function one hundred per cent efficiently during the drive.

In order to perfect state-wide plans Kentucky Disabled ex-Service Men's Board, which was created by the 1922 Kentucky legislature, arranged a series of division conferences, to one of which each post is sending one or more representatives. The first conference was held at Bowling Green on June 8 and was represented by Warren, Allen, Barren, Butler, Edmonson, Logan, Metcalfe, Todd, Simpson, Monroe, Cumberland, Hart, Hardin, Larue, Daviess, Hancock and

TUNNING UNDER STUBBLE RETARDS HESSIAN FLIES

Little damage evidently has been done to Kentucky wheat during the past season by the Hessian fly, no cases of serious injury having been reported to the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, according to Harrison Garman, the station entomologist. However, this is no assurance that the fly will not damage the grain sown this fall, he said, and it is being suggested that farmers plow their wheat stubble land as a first precaution.

"All land which contains fly infested stubble should be plowed to a depth of five or six inches in July or August so that the fragile flies cannot get to the surface. If the stubble is badly infested, the safest way to get rid of the flies is to burn off the field. Flies from the stubble emerge in September and place their eggs on any volunteer or other wheat in the vicinity. Late planting and the use of fields that are known to be free from the flies are precautions that can be used later in the season.

"The flaxseed stage of the flies, which appears as a smooth, shining, red-brown, seed-like object is left in the stubble when the wheat is cut. It remains in this condition until the latter part of July when some adults come out, most of them, however, remaining idle until August and September when they emerge in some numbers about the time the new crop of wheat comes up. The eggs soon are placed on the upper side of the wheat blades after which the flies die. The minute grubs which hatch creep down the blades to where they join the stems and crowd in behind them part the stems. They rasp the delicate tissues of the plant until these are weakened and in many cases kill both the stems and the blade.

"The insects are known to pass the winter in the flaxseed stage and to produce a spring brood which becomes the flaxseed stage before the wheat is harvested. This spring brood is difficult to destroy when in an active state, hence deep summer plowing and late fall sowing constitute the chief means of the farmer in controlling the fly."

REPORTS SHOW 61,000 MEMBERS IN LEAF POOL

Membership in the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association has passed the 61,000 mark, as shown by the report of Assistant Chief of the Field Service Division William Collins, to the board of directors on Friday and the reports of field workers of contracts not sent in but already signed.

Assistant Chief William Collins' figures showed 55,617 growers of burley tobacco signed in the campaign last fall and 4,804 additions since the campaign closed, making a total of 60,421. President and General Manager James C. Stone estimated that 1,000 contracts, signed but not yet sent in to field service headquarters, were in the hands of county chairmen or workers.

President Stone reported that the tobacco situation in West Virginia and the Ohio counties contiguous was favorable. Manager Clifton Rodes and his associates signing up the growers of that section at the rate of 160 to 175 a week. Director J. H. Soursley reported about 75 in the hands of workers in Fleming county. Director Clifford L. Walters said that 70 had been signed in Shelby county, which had not yet been sent in. Director at Large Charles H. Woodmansee brought 25 new contracts from Clermont county, Ohio, and Director T. S. Burnam, of Richmond, said that a number had been signed in Madison county which had not been reported.

Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker reported that the pricing of green tobacco which had been air-dried was either finished or in progress at fifteen different points in the district and that the growers would benefit considerably from the increased value of the tobacco after it has been air-dried.

President Stone reported the sale of a consignment of these green tobaccos to one of the largest brokers in the United States for export purposes. He said that a number of representatives of the larger manufacturers had been in Lexington recently and had called at the offices, that their attitude appeared to be fair and friendly and that it was his opinion it would not be long before substantial sales could be announced.

According to a letter from a cashier of a bank at Greensburg, growers of that county are signing the contract and there is some enthusiasm over the gains for the movement in Green county. Workers believe the county will sign up 90 per cent of its acreage before it has finished the campaign.

Judge Robert W. Bingham, director at large for Kentucky, reported that the sign up in Western Kentucky and Tennessee districts of the dark belt is progressing, that many growers are signing and that banks and business men are lining up for the formation of the association as they did in the burley district. Judge Bingham had just returned from a speaking tour of Western Kentucky and Tennessee and he said the keenest interest was being manifested in the co-operative movement in that locality.

The board adopted a motion by Director Dawson Chambers authorizing the president to appoint a committee to look into the work of the nation, a board of farm organizations at Washington, with a view to keeping in touch with national legislation that might affect the interests of the burley association.

Development of an export trade is one of the possibilities of the near future, in connection with the national department of commerce. World exports and imports, port warehousing facilities, custom duties, foreign manufacturers and probable future development are to be studied. President Stone brought the matter to the attention of the board, following a recent visit of an official of the department of commerce to Lexington and the matter was left in the hands of the president and executive committee to work out.

The report of Assistant Chief Collins of the field service division, after stating the number of members and the gain of 4,804, representing about 10,500,000 pounds, continued as follows:

"The new members added a total of 10,611 acres or a production in excess of 10,500,000 pounds. The new contracts signed have been secured in spite of the fact that only a very few counties have local organizations conducted a systematic campaign for new members since last fall. Such a campaign was planned for the week following May 20, when nearly $10,000,000 was paid to members of the association, and in several counties some good work was done, but in most places conditions were such as to make a systematic campaign impossible at that time. County chairmen and their workers found themselves so pressed with farm work that the business of contract soliciting had to be neglected for a while.

"Those county organizations, however, are absolutely loyal and have promised to work their respective counties again just as soon as this rush of farm work is over. Consequently, it is expected that within a few weeks the association will be materially strengthened in the territories that are already well signed up.

"In West Virginia a vigorous campaign is being conducted under the leadership of Clifton Rodes, and in the face of determined opposition by the warehouse interests there the growers of that state are rapidly getting in line. In the smaller producing counties of Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee and Indiana, where little effort was made last year, the work is being pushed now and will be continued throughout the year.

"As a result of all these efforts we confidently expect to increase our membership to 75,000 by the time for the delivery of the growing crop. In order to do this, however, it will be necessary to have the co-operation of our members and some assistance from them in the way of soliciting contracts from their neighbors who are as yet on the outside.

"The importance of signing up those growers cannot be too strongly emphasized, for everyone who sells his crop independently is a constant menace to the organization and a stumbling block in the path leading to the general prosperity and the high ideals for which the association was formed. Although we are now in a very strong position in this respect, with control of a large percentage of the production of burley tobacco, this percentage should be materially increased. This increase is entirely possible, for there is an excellent feeling all over the district toward the association and a willingness on the part of most of the outsiders to sign up, but they are waiting to be solicited.

"This work cannot be done by a few, but if in each county the members will support their county chairman and help to arouse a little of the enthusiasm that was everywhere manifested last fall, each county can be 'cleaned up' in short order and with comparatively little effort and time from the individual grower.

"We urge this support from the members of the association and request each one now to sign up his neighbor who may be on the outside, without waiting for a drive for members to be started."

EASY WAY OF RIDDING ROSE BUSHES OF SAWFLY LARVAE

The foliage of roses is very frequently attacked by sawfly larvae, which feed upon the leaves and cause the bushes to become unsightly and weakened, or at least much less beautiful and ornamental, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Three common species of sawfly larvae eat the leaves of roses, and are found in many parts of the United States east of the Rocky mountains.

They are easy to control. Knocking them some distance from the bush with a stream of water is a simple remedy. Since they eat the leaf tissue, thoroughly spraying the leaves with a stomach poison, such as 3 rounded teaspoonfuls of powdered arsenate of lead to 1 gallon of water whenever the larvae begin to appear will kill them and thus prevent the injury.

If only one generation of the insect occurs, as in the European rose slug, one or two spraying should effect a control, but if there is more than one generation, as with the coiled rose worm and the bristly rose slug, a closer watch will have to be kept up on the bushes and spraying done more often.

Mrs. Bruce Trimble, of Menefee county, returned home Saturday after a week's visit here to attend the trial of Jesse Swango for the killing of her brother, Wayne Bowen. Mr. and Mrs. Tipton Oldfield, of Cincinnati, and C. M. Bowen, of Whitesburg, returned after the trial.

Jesse Swango was released Monday on a $12,000 bond after the jury from Madison county failed to reach a verdict in his case. The jury stood two for the electric chair, two for acquittal, one for seven years, five ranged from 15 to 21 years in the state prison. The defendant was represented by C. F. Spencer and B. F. Crutcher, of Winchester; John D. Atkinson, Stanton, and G. B. Swango, of Wolfe county; the prosecution by Hon. J. M. Benton and Attorney Davis, Winchester; Leeburn Allen, Wolfe county; J. M. Baxter and A. T. Stewart, prosecuting attorneys. Owing to the prominence of both families, this case attracted wide attention and is one of the most deplorable occurrences of Powell county. Both men were Masons, belonging to the Stanton lodge. Bowen left a wife and three small children. Swango has a wife and seven children. Both men of good character and never in trouble before.

William Rice, sometimes called Bill Garland, of Nada, this county, continues his fast. He has not tasted food since June 13, saying that God had demanded him to fast as the Savior did to show the people they must make sacrifices if they meet God in peace. He was imprisoned in the Mt. Sterling jail, but released on the ninth day of his fast after a confinement of two days and nights. He is yet able to sit up and walk, but is very thin and weak. He says the devil tempts him each day with food like he did Christ, and he thinks the time of the separation of his soul from his body is at hand, saying he has always been poor, but is now the richest man on earth and that he lives on spiritual food.

Miss Maude Bowen, superintendent of county schools, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bowen.

Among those from here attending church at Torrent Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Townsend, Mrs. Martin Ford, Mrs. Minnie Faulkner, Misses Hazel Ewen, Connie and Lucile Faulkner; Messrs. William and Garret Townsend.

Rev. Mr. Brown, of Mt. Sterling, and William Brewer, of Slade, have closed a very successful meeting in the new Church of God at Torrent.

The surveyors finished the survey of Clear branch last Friday, and it is hoped the contract for a pike will be let at an early date so that our Wolfe county neighbors may have an outlet to the railroad.

The rain, badly needed in this section, continues, and is appreciated by the farmers.

A Business

Education Pays

All people should have a business education.

If they have money to invest and have a trained bookkeeper and accountant it is necessary to be trained as such in order to be satisfied that the bookkeeper is correct, and when errors occur, they frequently do, it is necessary to be proficient if you would be a helper in detecting mistakes. An unskilled person is helpless in such a task. So much for a skilled bookkeeper and his employer. Suppose you are not an investor and it is necessary that you be an earner of a livelihood by being numbered among the employed, could you accomplish much without a training? Big salaried men must be trained if they would hold a responsible position. Then if it is necessary that both the employer and his helper have a business training the next query is, where can such a training be secured? That is easy to the close observer, for the trained man will show his appreciation for what has been done for him and by his talk the training school is indicated. We hear this verified daily when in company with the appreciative trained man. What school is most talked of by pupils from this section? We answer, it is the Fugazzi Business College at Lexington, and there is a reason for such an expression.

Would you have a good salary from the start? If you have cultured business associates you would of necessity become trained in a business college. The Fugazzi Business College has a tip-top rating. It is so esteemed that graduates are eagerly sought after. Today their demand for trained men and women is far greater than their supply, and at salaries that are inviting to beginners and far better than what the untrained attains in a lifetime. From Mt. Sterling about a dozen have enrolled the past six months and every one of them who has finished the course is enjoying good compensation and is in line for promotion. Would you be self-sustaining? Then be wise and prepare yourself with a business training.

In selecting a training school bear in mind that Southern Bros. Fugazzi School of Business is the only school in Central Kentucky that holds membership in the National Association of Commercial Schools and that this means much in the securing of the very best paying positions.

POOR FLORIDA JURORS

Jurors sitting in liquor cases in Florida in the future are expected to sidestep invitations to taste the liquid evidence in order to determine that it is liquor, for the state appellate court opines that such a practice may be a violation of the Volstead act.

The court's opinion is contained in a lengthy decision wherein the tribunal quashed the judgment of a county court and affirmation by the circuit court because the defendant was convicted on evidence which officers obtained without a search warrant. When the defendant was on trial in the county court members of the jury were permitted to sip the evidence. In discussing this phase, Chief Justice Browne said:

"Even where all the jurors drink of the liquor, this is a very questionable proceeding and may be a violation of the Volstead act."

STRIKE

Strikes are quite proper, only strike right.

Strike for some purpose, but not for a fight;

Strike for freedom, for honor and for fame,

Strike always to win a good name. Strike for your manhood, with honor gain,

Strike right and left till your purpose you attain;

Strike for peace and all that is right, Strike and be sure your temper is bright.

Strike for your friends if occasions demand,

Strike and don't say that you ever ran;

Strike for your country with all of your might,

Strike and keep striking till you win a good fight.

Strike in earnest and not pretense, Strike for things of some consequence.

Strike to please others whenever you can,

Strike for the best is surely a good plan;

Strike for things that's honest and true,

Strike the right way and you are sure to go through.

Strike for things that you'll not regret—

Strike not for things you cannot get. —Ada B. Greene, Mt. Sterling, Ky.
